

315 Regents Park Road
Finchley, London N3 1DP
Tel.: 020 8349 3772
DX: 57259 FINCHLEY 2
steven@fas-partnership.co.uk

STEVEN SEGAL B.Sc(Econ.) ACA MAE

Academic and professional chronology

- 1984 London School of Economics
Batchelor of Science in Economics, First Class Honours
- 1987 Chartered Accountant (England & Wales)
- 1996 Member of the Academy of Experts
- 1984 to 1989 Stoy Hayward (now BDO Stoy Hayward)
Professional training, general practice experience of small and medium sized businesses and listed public limited companies. Corporate finance experience.
- 1989 to 1991 Finance Director and Head of Finance of a listed property investment group and a listed investment trust company. Responsible for all statutory, corporate and Stock Exchange reporting requirements, arranging loan finance and reporting on financial matters to the Board of Directors.
- 1991 Stoy Hayward
Property specialist in corporate finance department, reporting on acquisitions and mergers.
- 1991 to 2004 Addison Beyer Green & Co.
Developed a forensic accounting practice, primarily on personal injury and fatal accident claims. Dealt with the accounting and tax affairs of several Patients of the Court following the conclusion of their claims. Also a partner in Wilder Coe, an associated auditing and general practice. Until 2000 had responsibility for some corporate finance engagements and general practise clients.
- 2004 to date Formed Forensic Accounting Solutions, a partnership of three forensic accounting experts each with some 20 years of forensic accounting experience.

Forensic accountancy experience

I have been instructed and reported in over 1,100 cases. The vast majority of my instructions are in relation to:

- Personal injury and fatal accident claims
- Business disruption claims, including floods, fires, etc.
- Consequential loss from medical negligence

Other forensic assignments include:

- Joint venture, commercial agency and partnership disputes
- Fraudulent misrepresentation
- Miscarriage of Justice claims
- Investigations for the Police in relation to the Proceeds of Crime Act
- Shareholder Petitions under the Companies Act for unfair prejudice
- Claims against the SIF
- Professional fee disputes
- Matrimonial disputes
- Family disputes (trusts etc.)

My work is evenly split between Claimant and Defendant, together with joint instructions.

My experience covers a wide range of employed and self-employed claimants, addressing all manner of earnings, pension, benefits, equity-based remuneration and other losses, in both the private sector and public sector (doctors, teachers, police, armed forces etc.). I have reported on a range of other associated issues, such as Court of Protection costs, Receivership costs, wage inflation issues and the effects of foreign tax rates on the discount rate.

Very high value and complex claims reported on include:

- Several of the largest UK fatal accident claims, all arising from the death of senior plc corporate executives.
- Several personal injury and fatal accident claims in connection with bankers, traders and fund managers.
- A medical negligence claim on behalf of a hugely successful serial entrepreneur.
- A catastrophic injury claim on behalf of two child Patients, involving many issues relating to transferring their affairs overseas (tax, benefits, discount rate, financial management, Receivership management etc.). Jointly instructed.

I have carried out a wide range of investigations in many industries and on specific issues, for example:

- The impact of changes in Environmental legislation on a claim in the construction and landfill industry.
- The impact of American corporate governance legislation on promotion prospects in an international telecoms group.
- Foreign resident claimants, addressing issues such as earnings, tax and State benefits in their countries of residence.
- The merits of periodical payments arrangements.

Notable cases include:

- Kent v. British Railways Board [1994] – leading case on the issue of the loss of partnership profits.
- Newman v. Folkes and Dunlop Tyres Ltd [2002] – leading case on the issue of recoverable losses in the absence of evidence of earnings and tax records.

Other forensic activities

Regular lectures to solicitors, insurers and reinsurers on forensic accountancy issues in bodily injury and commercial claims, usually as part of their professional training. Article published in Quantum on partnership losses.